I am to be at Fillmore on Monday night 30th, Oregon, Tuesday night 31st, Phelps, Wednesday night, Sept. 1st, North Star, Thursday night, 2nd. I am truly yours,
C. F. ROBERTSON,
Bishop of Missouri.

The Election.
The election to organize under the Special School Law of Missouri, held on Tuesday, August 24th, in Oregon, resulted in favor of the measure. The vote stood 55 in favor, and 19 against it. Now for an efficient Board of Directors, who have the School interest of this District at heart, and who have experience and generalship enough to conduct this matter to a successful issue!

Fire at Irish Grove.
We learn that the residence of Mr. Fries Holloway, at Irish Grove, Atchison county, was burned, on Tuesday the 17th inst. The fire broke out about 8 o'clock in the morning, and the inmates had barely time to escape the burning building, in their sleeping apparel. The family of Mr. John Massingale, a tenant, occupying a portion of the house, was rendered destitute, all their household effects being destroyed. The loss is estimated at about $4,000, upon which there was insurance to the amount of $2,000, in the State Hannibal Company.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.
Oregon, Mo., Aug. 17, 1869.
The Institute was called to order by the President. Reading of the Scriptures by C. F. Dennet. Prayer by the President. Messrs. Wright and Boyd were appointed critics. Election of officers resulted as follows: S. Blanchard, President; Frank Gordon, Vice-President; Sarah E. Boyd, Secretary; S. J. Hershberger, Assistant Secretary; C. F. Dennet, Treasurer; C. O. Proud, Auditor.
On motion, it was ordered that the President's annual fee be remitted. On motion, the Rev. Wm. Hanley, of Oregon, and Mr. S. J. Bradford, of Whig Valley, were elected honorary members. The President appointed J. E. McKnight, C. F. Dennet and S. J. Hershberger, a Committee on Program.

Evening Session.—President in the Chair; prayer by Rev. Mr. Hanley; address by Mr. A. Klippel. He spoke of popular education, and would encourage the teachers in their great work. They are the ground work of the future prosperity and safety of our republic. He called attention to the geographical position of America, and the influence which our nation will be called upon to exert upon the nations of the world. It is obligatory to educate our children to this effect. All depends upon the teacher. The teacher then owes it to himself and posterity to prepare and fit himself, so as to acquire himself faithfully of the great responsibility devolved upon him. We the people should surround him in his arduous duties. He referred to the statement of one of the founders of the Republic: "If I had a silver trumpet, that would sound to the uttermost parts of the land, I would shout 'educate, educate, educate the masses!'" The speaker then said, "With an educated common people, we should have no more demagogues, no more rebellions." After urging the necessity of introducing into our public schools the study of the science of government, he bid the teachers a hearty God speed! and concluded, that he regretted teachers were not sufficiently remunerated nor properly appreciated. Recitation by H. Hershberger: "Thana-topsis." Essay by C. F. Dennet, subject "Civilization from an American Stand-Point." He drew a contrast between ancient and modern civilization. In ancient civilization men were held in check, and their morals cultivated by the grand and beautiful forms, and magnificent coloring, of divinely-inspired artists, who painted and chiseled far better than they knew. They left the impress of their thought and inspiration upon the ages; while the age in which we live is more an age of practicalities, and of a higher and more widely developed education, brought about by the greater facilities of inter-communication which we enjoy, and the wonderful development of inventive genius.

Mr. C. O. Proud then read "Marco Bozaris." Select reading by Master J. M. Saville, "Abraham."
The query box being opened, the question of woman's suffrage was discussed. A. Klippel voted the ladies of America decide this question for themselves. Messrs. H. Cooper D. W. Thuma, and Rev. Hanley spoke affirmatively; Messrs. J. E. McKnight, S. J. Hershberger and W. R. Riggie, opposed the movement. Adjourned.

SECOND DAY.
President in the chair. Reading of Scriptures by D. W. Thuma, and prayer by Rev. Hanley. Rev. J. M. Morrison was on motion admitted an honorary member.
Critics made report for previous day. Mrs. G. E. V. S. Lewis and Mrs. A. Blair were appointed critics.
Mr. Thuma conducted a class bill in penmanship, and Miss Wright, one in primary arithmetic. Mr. Riggie conducted an exercise in primary grammar.

AFTERNOON SESSION.—The Andrew County teachers having arrived, joint session was entered into. On motion, H. C. Alexander was chosen President, and S. Blanchard Vice-President, in place of Mr. Alexander, and the other vice-presidents who served at the March session. It was ordered, that the secretaries of the two Institutes be instructed to serve during the joint session. On motion, State Superintendent Parker was appointed conductor of the Institute.

Prof. Clark gave instruction in arithmetic. Teachers frequently fall in teaching this branch, for the reason that they enter upon the work without any definite idea as to the end it is desired to attain, or any just conception of the measure by which it is to be attained. Objects should be employed to give to the child an idea of numbers, and no just conception of numbers can be conveyed without them. The ancients recognized this fact, and used apples, wreaths, &c. Authors of primary arithmetic, who introduce pictures, thereby show that they understand mental philosophy. We should not be too hasty in employing figures instead of words. Intellectual arithmetic should employ only words. In this branch of the science, it is almost impossible to be too thorough. Care should be taken to reach the conclusions in a logical manner. This gives a knowledge of the use of language, and enables the pupils to reason correctly upon other subjects. We call in that which is termed practical or written arithmetic, with its Arabic notations, simply because the numbers are too large to be easily retained in the mind. Common sense is needed in teaching this as much as any other study. Too much stress should not be placed upon some of the definitions found in the beginning of text-books. In subtraction the plan of looking ten, when the upper figure is smaller than the lower one, should never be taught. Call in the axioms, that if two numbers be equally increased, their difference will remain the same, and increase the upper figure by ten, and add one to the next lower one. In multiplication the operation is a mechanical one, and we need not make it conform to the rigid analysis.

RECESS.—Miss H. N. Morris, of Leavenworth, Kansas, gave instruction in teaching primary reading, by the phonetic method, using, however, the common alphabet. The first sentence constructed should be concerning objects with which the pupils are acquainted, and which ought to be presented so as to suggest the idea to be expressed. To teach pupils to read correctly, the teacher may write expressions heard on the play-ground, and print them upon the blackboard at time of recitation. Children should be incited to read at home. Various expedients were mentioned for correcting errors she gave a short illustration of her method of teaching spelling. Words, familiar to the pupil, should be selected, and of these lists formed and assigned as lessons.

Mr. McKnight then gave a lesson on the verb on the Holbrook method.
EVENING SESSION.—President Alexander in the chair. The question of corporal punishment was discussed. Mr. Proud: "There is an element in every child by which we can govern without the rod, every pupil in our school is republican in sentiment, and corporal punishment is despotic; each child has a principle of right and wrong, which may be appealed to with good results."
Mr. H. Hershberger: "Moral suasion is a good thing but it does not reach every case, some must be held in restraint by fear of physical punishment, as in affairs of the State it is necessary to restrain evil doers by something more potent than moral suasion."
Mr. Thuma: Would use the rod under some circumstances. Mr. Hanley: The good book says "he that spareth the rod hateth the child," but I do not understand that to mean that we must apply the hazel or birch. We should punish as little as possible, the teacher or parent who governs himself will have no difficulty in governing the child.
Prof. Clark: As teachers grow older their universal experience is, that they use the rod less. It is evident, then, that it is used most by those who are least qualified to do so judiciously. It is a relic of barbarism. In ancient times the teacher was known by his rod.

Music: "Work for the Night is Coming."
Prof. Parker read a very interesting lecture of which we can give only a brief synopsis. He alluded to the influence exerted by Aristotle and Pestalozzi. The influence of the former was more felt to-day than that of any other ancient. He moulded the society of his own age; his system has benighted the world through the intervening centuries, and will be felt through all future ages. Pestalozzi is the author of our modern system of teaching, and although he did not give it entirely from defects, yet millions of children are to-day reaping benefits from seed sown by him.

The opportunity of the American teacher is to improve the age, as did they by the discovery of principle of matter and mind, as true and abiding as those which gave them immortality. It is his work, (1) To counteract the influence of materialism to which education is conforming, under the plea of utility; (2) To establish better the foundation of mental science; (3) It is the opportunity of the teacher to so interpret the institutions of the government, that the knowledge shall lay in clear solution in the mind of any child; (4) To elevate the dignity of the teacher's position into a professional character.

Music: "Bye and Bye."
Select reading by Miss Morris, the selections being "Mary Malony's Philosophy," "The Dying Soldier," "An Order for a Picture," "An Irish Woman's Letter," and "Sheridan's Ride." [CONCLUDED NEXT WEEK.]

Before Judge Evans.
Mrs. Cook of the neighborhood of Craig, charged her husband, Christian Cook with having opened one of her private letters. The case was to be tried before Justice Edson, of Rush Bottom, but on a change of venue it came before Justice Evans, at Oregon, on Monday the 23d. The accusing wife did not see fit to come to Oregon to prosecute her "beloved" husband; and Justice Evans dismissed the suit, throwing the plaintiff into the costs. There is a moral connected with this case, and it is this: men who have spiteful wives, had better beware how they handle their letters!

Religious.
The North West Missouri Baptist Association will hold its third anniversary at Mount City, in this county, on the 3d, 4th, and 5th days of September next. The meetings commence on Friday at 10 A. J. K. CHAMBERLAIN, Pastor.
The Knickerbocker Piano.
The name of L. G. Gottschalk attached to a recommendation of a piano, is very high evidence that the instrument is an unusual excellent one. The following is what says of the Knabe:
Messrs. Wm. Knabe & Co.—Gentlemen: Having lately an opportunity to try and test your new scale Grand as well as Square Pianos, I can not refrain, besides reiterating all I had occasion to say at a former period, from congratulating you on the important improvements you have introduced in the manufacture of Pianos. Your instruments combine all the qualities which are required to make a Piano as perfect as possible, and fully deserve the great popularity they have gained all over the country.
Yours truly,
L. M. GOTTSCALK.
J. Bauer & Co., 69 Washington street, Chicago, and 650 Broadway N. Y. are General Agents for the Knabe.

Thermometer in Oregon ranges from 98 to 100° heat in the shade.

Big Rise.
The heavy rains to the north of us on Saturday, have again caused all the upper streams to rise very rapidly, sweeping away bridges, and doing general damage to the roads. The Tarkenton ten feet in one night, and the Nishnabotna, Cache and Musketto Creeks rose in the same ratio. The town of Craig was nearly drowned out.

Holt County Ahead.
One of our Eastern exchanges says that Henry Shultz, Esq., of Bath township, Franklin county, Ind., planted one potato, last spring, of the celebrated "Early Rose" variety, making of it twelve hills, and from that one potato he has dug forty and a half pounds of fine large potatoes.
As an offset to this we are authorized to say, that Mr. John Nies of Oregon, who last spring planted one potato seven hills, dug out last week thirty-three pounds of fine large potatoes. The Indiana man raises at the rate of 3 and 1 our Oregon man 4 and 5-7 of a pound of potatoes to the hill. Holt county, Mo., is ahead.

Personal.
Mr. J. E. Huston, the new editor and publisher of the Era, Savannah Mo., did us the honor to call and make our acquaintance in our sanctum a few days ago. We found in him an agreeable gentleman, of the typographical profession. We wish him much success, in the arduous duties as an "instructor of the public."

We had the pleasure of taking by the hand Mr. George Bowman, formerly of this office but now of the Pleasant Hill, Mo., Leader. Mr. B. is having a flourish from the arduous duties of the printing office; and is enjoying it in rusticiating a few days among his old friends at Oregon. Mr. B. has many good things to say about Pleasant Hill, and the thriving paper with which he is connected; but he thinks there is no place like Oregon.

Terrible Effect of Lightning.
During the severe thunder storm on Saturday night, the 21st inst., the lightning struck the large barn of Mr. Adam Runge, whose farm is situated on a high eminence about 1 1/2 mile East of Oregon, setting fire to it, and burning it to the ground. The flames of the burning barn brilliantly illuminated the sky for miles around. In an adjoining shed a cow was killed outright. The barn being full of new hay and wheat in shock, the fire spread so rapidly, that a mare, a colt and a horse, and what were inside the barn were burnt to death. There was also a large lot of corn consumed. It is alleged that the lightning rod was broke into two. Mr. Runge estimates his loss at about $2,000, with no insurance.

ANOTHER CASE.—Mrs. Sally Weston, of Washington county, Kansas, had the skull for a year and a half, and was reduced to a mere skeleton. A couple of months ago, she accidentally dropped on a bottle of Hartwig's Alpine Bitters, and was induced to try them. She used three bottles, and is today a stout healthy woman. This is only one among hundreds of cases which have been relieved by the use of this great tonic.

An eminent physician of New York, in writing to the proprietors of Roback's Blood Pills, says: "I have examined the formula you sent me of Roback's Blood Pills, and am glad to notice that you do not use any mercury or other mineral substance in their composition. The podophyllin employed is, in my opinion, the best article that can enter into the composition of a cathartic pill, and is one of the most valuable chologogue cathartics, operating mildly yet effectually, arousing the whole biliary and digestive apparatus. They likewise exert a favorable influence on the cutaneous functions, producing and maintaining a constant moisture of the skin. They must act as a powerful alterative and produce lasting impressions upon the glandular system and secretory organs, and producing evacuations from the bowels when mercurials and other agents fail. Their action upon the liver must be specific, arousing the secretions and producing free biliary evacuations, and in a chronic hepatic degeneration, with dyspepsia they are invaluable."
